

OBITUARY/BIO

Occupy Toledo was born October 10, 2011, to its parents, the Arab Spring and Occupy Wall Street. Born of hope, Occupy Toledo burst onto the scene in its own charmingly childish way. However, from the birth of Occupy Toledo, few people could understand what it wanted. Onlookers mumbled again and again: "What do they want?" "I don't get it." Occupy Toledo flailed around for about 6 months until it realized that it was too small to succeed. After scrutinizing corporate behavior, Occupy Toledo in due course discovered that the nobility of American corporations was unparalleled. The dearly departed realized that in these great United States of America, injustices are so few and far between, that it could no longer even occupy itself. Unavoidably, Occupy Toledo came to its senses, recognized its irrelevancy, and accepted that resistance to corporate rule is futile. Fortunately, in the end, Occupy Toledo had gained at least the good sense to crawl into a coroner's office and die. Occupy Toledo died on April 1, 2012, due to apathy. Protesters were the Time Magazine Person of the Year in 2011. Gracefully, protesters like Occupy Toledo are stepping aside to make room for the inevitable Time Magazine Person of the Year for 2012: the Corporate Person, born of Citizens United, the true will of human persons across America. Occupy Toledo is survived by countless cousins around the country, many of whom have not achieved enlightenment, so they have not yet abandoned their vain struggles against corporate America, which is obviously too big too fail. The bad news is that Occupy Toledo is dead. The good news is that its condition is stable.

Thank you to our corporate sponsors who so kindly funded a small free speech zone, so we can have one last glimpse of what free speech looks like.

Funeral Fans graciously provided by OT Funeral Supply Corp., a wholly owned subsidiary of DeathCo - proudly fanning the flames of consumerism since 1984 - there are only 666 shopping days until Armageddon.

HOMElessLAND SECURITY personnel provided by [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] - Protecting Persons That Don't Exist from Threats That Don't Exist Except in the Minds of Those Who Don't Resist.

Brought to you by OT Productions, All Writes Unreserved

In Loving Memory OCCUPY TOLEDO

FRITO-LAY®
MEMORIAL SERVICE
Willing to bury us when the chips were down.

Sunday, April 1, 2012 - 3:00 PM
The People's Funeral Home
Levi's Square aka FirstEnergy Square
St. Clair & Madison
Toledo, OH 43604

FUNERAL ORDER

ProceSSIONAL - We Are Overcome (sung with joyous resignation)

*We are overcome, we are overcome,
We are overcome today;
Oh, deep in my heart, I do believe,
We are overcome today.*

Verse 2 - We'll walk head in hands

Welcome - Funeral Director

Preacher: The Peace of Chrysler be with you.

People: And also with you.

Preacher: In the name of the Wal-mart, the Chevron, and the General Electric, three companies, but one in purpose.

People: Amen

Invocation - Preacher

People: Amen

Opening Hymn: This Land is Your Land (sung dutifully)

This land is your land. It sure ain't our land. That's why you sack us, that's why you frack us.

You have the lawyers, the legislators, This land was made for you, not me. (sing 3 times)

Obituary/Bio

Thanksgiving to Corporate Sponsors - Liturgist

Response: Work, Buy, Consume, Die! All Else Is a Lie!

Eulogies

Personal reflection

Letter from corporate sponsors

Litany of Resignation - Liturgist

Response: Oh, Corporate Overlords, hear our plea.

Song - "We Are Overcome" -- verse 3, We're so small we failed

Confession - Preacher

People: Amen

Pronouncement of Pardon - Preacher

People: Amen

Message

Lying of the Money

Honoring the longstanding tradition of throwing money on a situation to cover it up whenever Wall Street is implicated in deaths.

Song - "We Are Overcome" -- verse 4, Money speaks for us (sung during "Lying of the Money")

Signing of the Death Certificate - Doctor

Song - "We Are Overcome" -- verse 5, Death will set us free

Final Viewing/Committal

Benediction - Preacher